

Nearly 30 School District of New Berlin Students Awarded Scholastic Art and Writing Awards

New Berlin, Wis. - The School District of New Berlin is pleased to announce that a combined 29 students from New Berlin Eisenhower and New Berlin West middle/high schools have been honored with 39 prestigious awards from the Scholastic Art & Writing awards for their artwork.

Students earned the awards for their work in photography, painting, drawing, design, architecture, ceramics and glass, and mixed media.

Awards are given at three levels: Gold Key, Silver Key and honorable mention. Gold Key award-winning artwork will be on display in the Milwaukee Art Museum and are eligible for national awards and potential scholarships. Silver Key award-winners will also be on display at the museum. All award winners, including those receiving honorable mentions, are invited to be recognized at the museum's awards day Saturday, Feb. 11.

District students earned four Gold Key awards: West junior Kayla Kugel in photography, Eisenhower junior Kayla Juds in drawing, Eisenhower freshman Jessica Kemstra in sculpture, and West seventh-grader Catherine Klingbeil in painting. Six different students received multiple recognitions. Please see the entire list below.

The Scholastic Art & Writing Awards stakes the claim to the nation's longest-running and most prestigious recognition program for creative teens in grades 7-12.
